

Do you have an hour to have coffee
with a friend?

Then you have time to help a child.

Close to 80% of fourth graders in L.A. aren't reading at grade level.

And far too many can't read at all. That's why we created KOREH L.A., The Los Angeles Jewish Coalition for Literacy. We've helped more than 12,000 children learn to read so far and if you've got one hour a week, together, we can help many more.

To become a KOREH L.A. reading volunteer or for more information, please call (323) 761-8153 or visit us at www.KOREHLA.org.
